PALM BEACH GARDENS — Cross Match Technologies Inc., biometrics security company, has named Walter F. Raquet company chairman. Raquet, who is CEO of WR Capital Management, has been a member of Cross Match's board of directors since March 1999. He succeeds Theodore M. Johnson, who served as chairman since September 1997.

"Walter has made significant contributions to the company over the last seven years, and we are all very pleased to announce his election as chairman," said Cross Match president and CEO James W. Ziglar. "I look forward to working with him to build on the momentum in place and help grow our business."

Raquet founded Knight Capital Group in 1995 and helped establish the company as the largest market maker in both Nasdaq securities and the over-the-counter market for New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange securities. Raquet was a senior vice president with Spear, Leeds & Kellogg/Troster Singer. Raquet began his career at Price Waterhouse, and later worked at Paine Webber and Weeden & Co. He holds a bachelor of science degree in accounting from New York University.

Cross Match makes biometric identity systems used in security applications.
